Mesta Meadows

Our goal is to provide the best breeding stock possible which are adapted to the Southeastern Missouri climate (wet and humid). We have both a fine wool flock (Rambouillet and Cormo) and a dairy flock.

Dairy Flock

Our dairy flock is based on East Friesian / Lucaune Cross genetics with our original sheep originating from the Green Dirt Farm in Weston Missouri. One of the leading sheep cheese creameries in the country. We like this cross breed because the East Friesian's provide excellent production characteristics while Lucaunes provide milk that is higher in fat and protein, and which brings excellent hardiness to this pairing.

Wool Flock

Our Rambouillet (also called French Merino) flock originates from Dakota and Wyoming including the Erk and Kitterling ranches. Our micron average for the ewe flock is 19, and we do the foundation flock is registered. Our breeding program has always focused on wool quality, meat performance, and reproductive performance. We really like the Rambouillet breed due to their dual purpose ability with excellent wool quality and great meat quality. We began a breeding program in 2023 to develop a line of Rambouillet's with improved parasite resistance since our area is one of the wettest (we are the 5th wettest county in the state with an average annual rainfall of well over 60" annually) and most humid counties in the state. Our 2025 lamb crop is from a Rambouillet / Scottish Blackface cross ram and Rambouillet and Cormo ewes. The Scottish Blackface breed is extremely hardy and provides very long (but coarser) staple length wool. Our goal has been to keep the very high-quality wool, increase staple length, and improve hardiness. This lamb crop is the result of efforts. We are calling them "Ozark Merino's" based on their ability to thrive in the Ozarks climate but retain their heritage of high-quality Merino wool.
